ARGUMENTS HEARD TODAY.

Paoli, Ind., July 14.—Arguments on Jennurers in the French Lick and West Baden cases were resumed today. Attorney General Miller concluded and John W. Kern will make the closing argument for the defense. The impression is that Judge Buskirk will sustain the demurrer and that the hotel companies will thereby retain their charters. Mr. Miller in his argument, said that gambling must stop. He does not care what the ruling of the court may be on demurrers, and he has served notice that for at least two years from next January the law will be respected all over Indiana. The state has a lot of witnesses ready to use if the court does not sustain the demurrers.

Tom Jones and Charles A. Woodruff, negroes, were hanged from the same scaffold at Independence, Va., for the murder of Wiley Jones, negro.

Republican Congressmen and the Corporations.

A number of congressmen who are candidates for re-election have appealed to Speaker Cannon for help on the stump in the approaching campaign. The fact is fully realized that this year there is not going to be a Roosevelt wave to sweep some into office as it did two years ago.—Youngstown Vindicator.

Every Republican candidate for Congress this year will be compelled to explain why the bill prohibiting corporations from contributing campaign funds was not allowed to pass the House. Of what practical value is all this buncombe about prosecuting corporations for violations of existing laws? Nothing of consequence has been accomplished and nothing will be done that will really hurt the corporations and trusts.

But let corporations be allowed to continue campaign contributions and it is an absolute certainty that they will see that men are elected and appointed to office who will discontinue all prosecutions of every character against trusts. The only possible way of putting an end to corporation rule in this country is to prevent corporation control of elections by the use of money.

Republican Congressmen asking another term must face the charge that they refused to prohibit corporation campaign contributions because they rely on this source of obtaining funds for their own re-election.

Lawyers and Optimism.

(Saturdays Ohio Sun.)

Addressing the Ohio Bar Association at Put-in-Bay, President Edward Kibler of Newark, quoted as saying: "The normal outgrowth under a Democratic form of government, of a realization of indisputable popular rights as the result of an average higher moral conception of individual rights and duties."

Probably Mr. Kibler meant to say the world is growing better. In the absence of the official interpreter, we are quite willing to accept his words that way. In making such a declaration he went far toward confirming the wise judgment of his associates in selecting him for the president of this representative body of Ohio lawyers. Optimism is a quality as vitally important in his profession as it is in medicine, surgery or religious teaching.

Essentially, the lawyer is a constructionist. Members of that learned profession are perhaps the most important single force in all bodies by which laws are made. Necessarily, it is lawyers by whom the statutes are interpreted after enactment, and it happens frequently that it is lawyers by whom these governmental rules for public and private conduct are enforced.

The march of human progress would be stayed if the men who do these things were morbid pessimists, finding muddy spots upon every silver lining.

Public and private morals are growing better, and the sum of human happiness is increasing, because the men who make the laws, the men who interpret them, and the men who enforce them, are of good cheer and hopefulness.

Manila Will Have Fine New Structure Managed by a Man From Cincinnati.

Manila, July 14.—This city is to have a million dollar modern hotel. The site has been purchased and the building will be begun soon. The ground covers 350,000 square feet. The building is to be 300 feet long with two wings between which will be a large pattee with fountain. Steel and concrete will be used. It is promised that the building will be fire and earthquake proof. Pillars of Grecian type will reach up to the fourth floor, supporting the fifth story, on which will be a roof garden. The hotel is to be equipped with its own vegetable and flower garden, its own dairy farm, tennis courts, bowling alleys, automobile garage, billiard rooms, cafe and reading rooms. It will operate its own power plant, ice plant, cold storage and laundry. All the furniture will be of Filipino manufacture and Filipino servants, uniformed, drilled and thoroughly organized, will be employed. Horace Dunbar, of Cincinnati, is in charge of the enterprise. American and English capitalists are interested.

SEVENTY YEARS AGO

This Veteran Attorney Was Admitted To the Bar, is Still Active at Age of 93.

Bucyrus, July 14.—Seventy years ago Attorney Franklin Adams, of this city, was admitted to the bar. Today at the age of 93 he is still actively engaged practicing law. Although advanced in years he is possessed of all his mental vigor, and is strong and hearty.

During all his life since his admission to the bar he has lived in Bucyrus. He has never been married, and has never been in politics. Sixty years ago, when the county was young he was induced to guide its early destinies as prosecuting attorney, but after the expiration of his term he declined any further political preferment.

Mr. Adams comes of an old New England family and is connected with the former president of the United States of that name. The Crawford County Bar Association tendered the veteran attorney a banquet last evening.

DICK OBJECTS TO CAPITAL CITY

WANTS TO TAKE CONVENTION TO CEDAR POINT OR DAYTON THIS YEAR.

Both State Conventions May Be Held Late in August—Political News of the State.

Columbus, O., July 14.—Senator Dick, chairman of the state Republican executive committee, has come out squarely in opposition to holding the state Republican convention in Columbus this year, that is, if he is correctly quoted in an interview at Cleveland. Accordingly, he is disposed to favor Cedar Point, where the Democrats held their state convention in 1902; or Dayton, which has not had a state convention for several years.

A poll of the state Republican central committee some time ago disclosed that about half the committeemen were openly in favor of holding the convention in Columbus, while the others were divided between Dayton and other cities or noncommittal.

For this reason it is probable that pressure will be brought to bear to take the convention away from Columbus, not so much to punish the capital city as to rebuke the Republican papers published in Columbus. This was plainly stated by Senator Dick in his interview, who is quoted as saying: "The convention will probably go either to Cedar Point or Dayton. There is a disposition on the part of the Republican press of Columbus to be unfriendly this year. It is unfortunate. For that reason the committeemen prefer some other city. I have heard talk of an effort to bring the convention to Cleveland, but I fear the move is late."

Senator Dick scouted the rumors of insurrection in the party ranks, and emphatically declared that he will direct the coming campaign as usual. He said the best of feeling exists between him and President Roosevelt; that the president is not disposed to interfere in Ohio politics; that the best of feeling prevails between himself, Foraker, Herrick and Nelson, notwithstanding rumors to the contrary; that the organization is intact, that "back of an organization such as exists in Ohio are years of association, confidence and cooperation," and that "the men who are the bone and sinew of that organization have had nothing to disturb their altogether friendly relations of years' standing."

Asked regarding the probable chairman of the coming state convention, the senator said "Governor Harris will be chairman, if he desires to be. There has been no determination as yet, so far as I know. Governor Harris is in perfect accord with the organization; the organization with him. His wishes will be respected."

Asked point blank for an expression of his belief as to the feeling between President Roosevelt and Senator Foraker, a somewhat leading and embarrassing interrogation to put to a colleague instead of to a party of the first part, Senator Dick hesitated a moment and replied, "Friendly," then added: "It is possible that the president may have resented for the moment the senator's position in certain matters. But one must not forget that a senator has a right to his opinion. I can conceive nothing more lamentable than a senator or representative without the courage of his convictions. The president appreciates this, I am sure."

Very late in August or some time early in September is the period proposed for the Republican state convention. A September date is not likely for either the Republican or Democratic convention, for the state fair will be held at Columbus the week beginning Sept. 3, and the state fair affords too fine an opportunity for candidates to meet friends from all parts of the state to let go by default. Neither party would care to hold its convention as a counter attraction to the state fair, so that the committees will probably choose an August date.

Chairman Orrin B. Gould issued a call for the state Republican central committee to meet in Columbus July 15 to fix the time and place for the state convention. Whoever may be chosen as temporary chairman it is a foregone conclusion that John R. Malloy will be given his accustomed post as temporary secretary.

Frank Harper, chairman of the state Democratic central committee, issued a call for that committee to meet in Columbus July 19, to choose a time and place for the Democratic convention. The committee will meet therefore, the next day after the Republican committee meeting, and the next day after the expiration of 30 days following the death of Governor Pattison. It is believed Columbus will be chosen for the Democratic convention, the third or fourth week in August.

Friends of H. H. Hollenback, son of Ohio's first fire warden, who was his father's chief deputy and was reappointed by the new state fire marshal, D. S. Creamer, are on a sharp lookout in his behalf in case a vacancy should arise at the head of that department. So are H. D. Davis and his friends, in hopes that Davis may be reappointed to the office in case of a vacancy.

But there is little prospect just now of there being a vacancy. Without announcement being made officially the governor is presumed to be responsible for the published reports to the effect that he will not demand Creamer's resignation, which implies that Creamer's staff will continue as named. It is said Governor Harris does not care to provoke a political tempest by attempting the doubtful expedient of removing Creamer "for cause" under circumstances that would clearly show the "cause" was entirely partisan. And so, without an official ruling of the attorney general he arrived at the conclusion to "let well enough alone," for he has many more bridges to cross as he comes to them in the next two years. The governor sees that he would engender bitter feelings in the choice of a successor to Creamer, no matter whom he might select, and it will be no worse to let the matter stand just as it is. The governor is far-seeing enough to know also that something may transpire within the next two years to "take Creamer's scalp," if he can, without basing the action on grounds purely partisan. Mr. Creamer must assume that risk in continuing to hold an appointive office under a Republican administration.

C. C. Lement of Kenton is back in his old place as executive clerk in the governor's office, a position he held under Governors Nash and Herrick. He succeeded, after an interim of a few months, John S. Black, who served during the Pattison regime.

Governor Harris made two changes in the state board of medical registration and examination. He appointed Dr. J. M. Stevenson of Chillicothe to succeed Dr. J. N. Scudder of Cincinnati, term ending March 18, 1912; and Dr. J. A. Duncan of Toledo to succeed Dr. S. B. McGavran of Cadiz, term ending March 18, 1913.

Governor Harris reappointed J. F. Magrew of Springfield a trustee of the state library. This means that Charles E. Galbraith will be retained as librarian. Rev. James Poindester, colored, of Columbus, was appointed a trustee of Wilberforce university.

Despite considerable opposition the governor reappointed Charles E. Perkins of Akron chief engineer of the state board of public works. Perkins was first appointed by Governor McKinley, and has been in the office 14 years. When Governor Harris came to this bridge he requested the three members of the board, George H. Watkins, Richard B. Crawford and William Kirtley, Jr., together with Chief Engineer Perkins, to call on him, which they did. The governor asked the members of the board if the reappointment of Colonel Perkins would be satisfactory to them. Each promptly said it would. The appointment was made accordingly.

A. S. Idings of Dayton, deputy in the office of supreme court clerk, resigned to take the place of deputy clerk of courts of Montgomery county. Allen C. Taylor, correspondent clerk in the office, may succeed Idings.

Returns to the state auditor show that the Aikin saloon tax reduced the number of saloons in the state from 12,550 to less than 10,000. The aggregate revenue for the first six months at least will be near the $5,000,000 mark as compared with $2,190,000 before in a like period. The state will receive about $340,000 from the first semi-annual payment of the tax.

As previously announced, E. M. Wertz, representative of Wayne county, was wedded July 11, the bride being Miss Elizabeth Johnson of Wooster. They were classmates at the Ohio State university.

Manufacturers' and Importers' Surplus Stock Sale

The Great Money-Saving Opportunity of the Year

SALE IS NOW IN FULL FORGE

July is the clearing month for spring and summer goods. Fall business starts up in August, and manufacturers and importers are anxious to begin the new season with "clean decks"—hence they are willing to sacrifice their surplus stocks of spring and summer merchandise. But only a store that has done good business and whose own stocks are at low-water mark can take advantage of this great trade event. In this respect we are most fortunate and we don't believe there is another establishment anywhere as well prepared as we are to take hold of and distribute these mid-summer bargains. Part of the goods have already arrived and will be placed on sale at once. The remaining lots will keep on coming daily for the next week or ten days, and we expect to have sufficient to continue the opportunity during the entire month. Remember, this is not a sale of odds and ends that have been stored away in garrets and dark corners for goodness knows how long—but an offering of new merchandise all made for this season's use. They're the very things that many of you have a need for now and would buy at full prices if we didn't give you the chance to get them at such unequalled savings. It is an opportunity that no economically inclined person can afford to ignore.

To Restrain C. B. L. & X. Traction Company from Encroaching on National Road.

The attention of the county commissioners having been called to the fact that the Columbus, Buckeye Lake and Newark Traction company is constructing a switch on the National pike, just west of Hebron, action was taken on the matter at the meeting of the commissioners on Saturday morning. After investigating the matter they authorized attorneys Norpell & Norpell to commence suit at once against the railway company to restrain it from occupying and encroaching upon the National road contrary to the franchise. SHE WANTS HER SISTER "WRITTEN UP"

Sick Women Unable to Care for Her Mother and a Sister it Seems, Isn't Willing.

An unusual request was made by a South Newark woman to a reporter for the Advocate Saturday when she asked the newsman to write a story exposing her sister for her alleged neglect of her mother who is lying seriously ill.

A call was received asking that a reporter be sent to a certain house in South Newark. Such requests are not unusual, but the later developments in this particular case put it in a class by itself.

When the reporter arrived on the scene, he found the lady of the house lying ill on a couch, having been seized with an attack of nervousness, it being so severe as to necessitate the services of a physician. She has been almost run down by the care of an invalid mother whose condition is really serious, and the trouble was such that it required the attention of some one all the time.

The nature of the case is such that none of the neighbors could be asked to help and the aged woman's daughter, No. 2, positively refuses to go to her sick sister's aid. These details were related to the reporter and he asked: "Now what do you want me to do for you?"

The newsman was no missionary, but he thought he might be of some assistance.

"I merely thought," said the sick woman, "that if you would write a story and let people know just how my sister is neglecting our mother, that she might be induced to change her manner and help, at least while I am sick."

The request is an unusual one and the reporter, without making any promises, left the house. It was learned later that the facts as related were about true but that the negligent sister claims that she is doing other things for her mother which equalize matters, at least from her standpoint.

He has written to Washington for statistics to be ready to plunge into the work. Cannon in his speeches will not ignore the ultimatum delivered by President Compters of the American Federation of Labor. Wherever Republican candidates for Congress are being opposed by the Federation leaders he will raise the cry of "bossism."
